Menu help4vet include:

Add new case:

To send your medical images for review just upload images using the panel on the left hand side. As soon the images are uploaded the system will allow you to provide a basic patient information and you can sent your case for review.

Help4vet will review and provide interpretation of the images within the time you selected when sending the case for review.

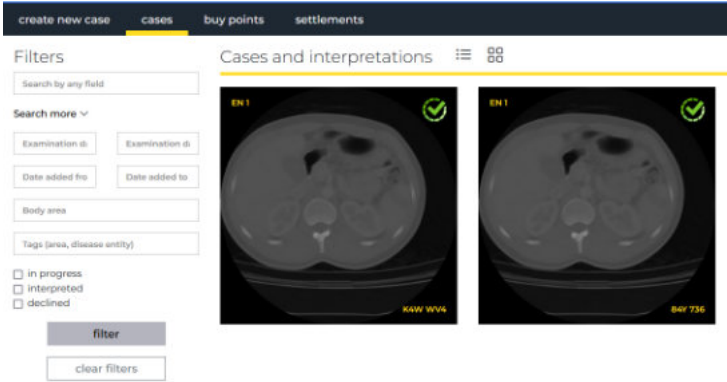

The ready review will be available in the service, but Help4vet will also send it to the email address you've provided during the registration.

Each interpretation can be downloaded in a PDF format and handed over to the customer.

In the “cases” section you may find an archive of all the review requests you’ve sent. You can easily find a case you need using a filters in the left menu.

All cases have codes status to make it easier for you - Interpretation ready and work in progress. Sometimes Help4vet may decline providing interpretation (e.g. not sufficient quality of images, not sufficient projections) - this cases will be also marked. In each such case Help4vet provides the reason why a review was rejected.
